The Old School Boys and Girls Association

THE ROCHESTER OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

The Rochester Old School Boys and Girls Association is the outgrowth of a Reunion of the Old Boys of Rochester, held October 14th and 15th, 1916. The idea of such a Reunion originated with Stiles P. Jones, who early in the year of 1916 began to talk up among the Rochester Old Boys living in Minneapolis the idea of a get-together meeting. Finally he called a meeting of some of the Old Boys and it was voted a good idea and a committee was formed to organize such a plan, consisting of Stiles Jones, Jim Ells, Grove Cross, Charlie and Rodney Chadbourn, Fred Van Dusen and Will Gooding.

The first idea was to hold the meeting in Minneapolis, but as soon as the boys in Rochester heard of the idea they espoused it with a proviso that the Reunion be held in Rochester, which finally culminated in the successful visit to Rochester on October 14-15, 1916.

THE FIRST TRIP TO ROCHESTER

The growing enthusiasm soon proved that the expedition to Rochester might assume the proportions of a special train, so one was chartered which carried 83 of the old boys into Rochester at 12:30 on October 16.

The hours going down were occupied with progressive visiting, a unique scheme of Jim Ells' fertile brain. Five minutes were allotted to each visit when at a signal from Jim on a locomotive bell which he cracked in his enthusiasm, everybody shifted to find a new seat mate. Badges of identification had been provided and the lapse of years made these quite necessary in some cases.

HOW THINGS CHANGE

To show how transportation conditions have changed, this successful railroad trip was never afterwards duplicated. In 1921 an attempt was made to run a special car, but although the attendance at the gathering that year numbered 900, the railroad trip was pretty much of a failure.

In 1926, with an attendance of over 1300, all idea of using the railroad had been abandoned.

THE WELCOME IN ROCHESTER

At the Rochester depot the train was met by the Rochester boys, a procession was formed, marched up Broadway to College Street and down Main Street to the Commercial club, which were Reunion headquarters.

The day's program included a group picture on the steps of the old Central school building in the center of which was John Sullivan, the veteran school janitor then 83 years old, with his hands gripping an improvised bell rope. Then the visitors were given an auto ride around the city, the last leg of which took the crowd past Schuster Brothers' foam factory, where a stop of one-half hour was made to partake of the refreshments and entertainment furnished by our old schoolmates, "Fatty" (Fred) and "Leany" (Henry) Schuster, and each visitor was given a photo-souvenir as a remembrance of the occasion.

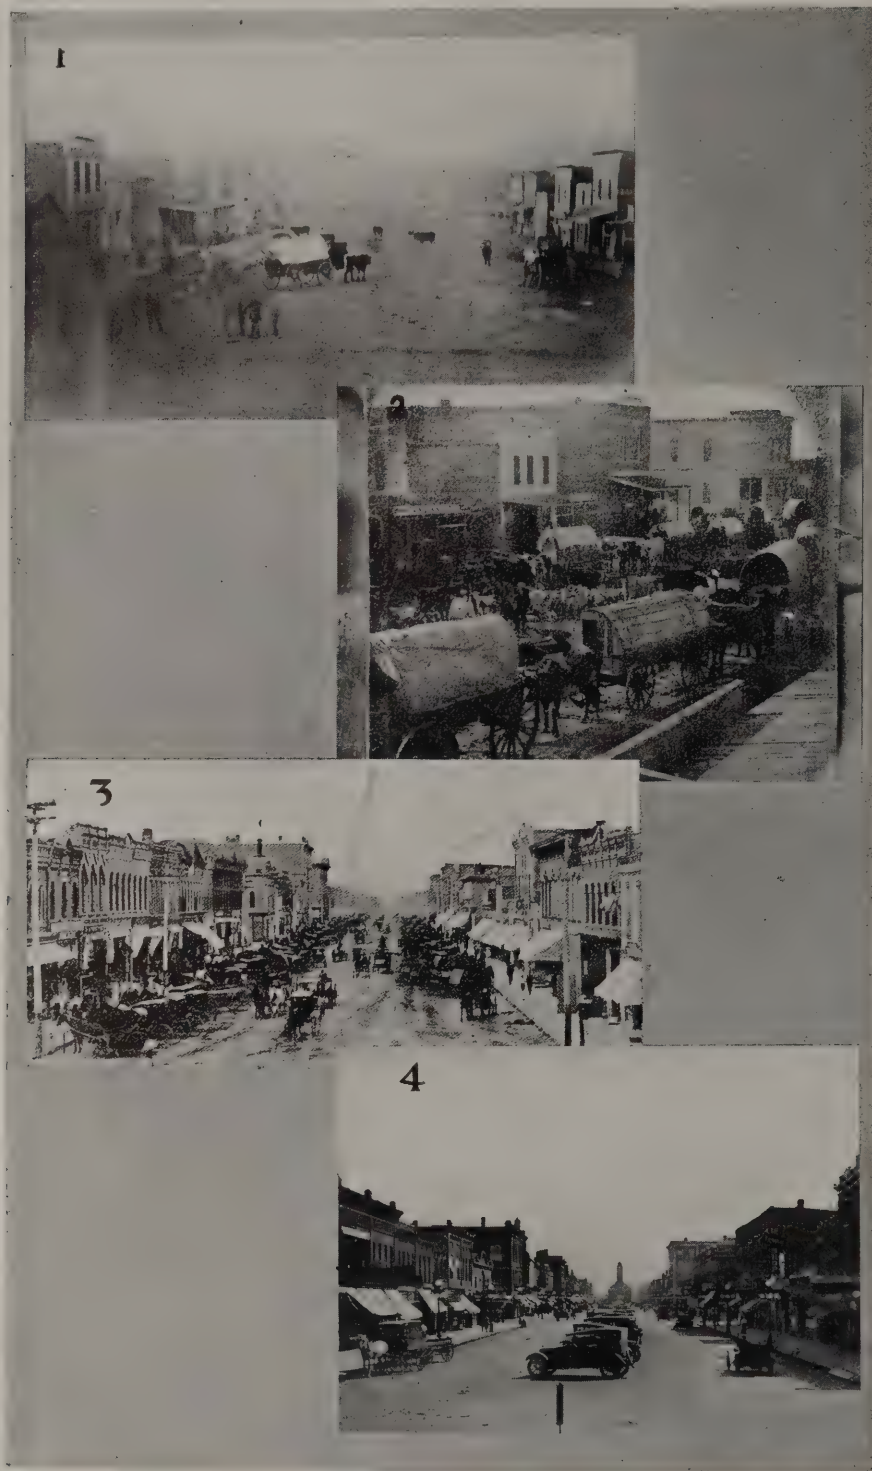

THE BANQUET

This was held in the gymnasium of the new high school building one block above the old Central school on Zumbro Street, the only room in town large enough to accommodate the crowd. Three hundred and fifty sat down to the feast. Saxe Jones was the toastmaster and speeches were made by Johnny Lawler (the Right Reverend John J. Lawler, of Lead, S. D.;) Elder Rice, Frank Kellogg (this was before he was United States Senator,) and Charlie Mayo.

FORMATION OF THE ROCHESTER OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Despite its lavish entertainment, the Rochester committee found itself left with some unexpended funds. This perhaps was the compelling reason why the Association was incorporated. The Reunion had proven so successful that it was felt that another should be held in perhaps five years, and the Association was formed to make a permanent organization for the purpose.

THE SECOND REUNION IN OCTOBER, 1921.

After the lapse of four years, the question of another Reunion began to be agitated, and it was decided to hold one in 1921. The Association further decided to take in the Old Girls and to reduce the age limit to thirty-five. This swelled the attendance to over 900, but the hosts at Rochester were equal to the occasion and the second Reunion was also a wonderful success.

During the intervening five years Rochester had built an Armory, which was used for Reunion headquarters and where an old-time dance was staged.

The banquet was held at the new and magnificent Kahler Hotel, then just completed; in fact, the Reunion dinner was the new Kahler's first large banquet. Many of the old timers had to pinch themselves to be sure they were really awake amid such magnificence in Rochester.

The guests were treated to an automobile tour of the city which had by that time assumed a metropolitan aspect. Dr. Will threw open his new mansion for a reception to the Old Boys and Girls, and even the whole 900 did not tax its capacity.

THE THIRD REUNION IN 1926

The Rochester Committee realized that no building, even in Rochester, was big enough to handle the crowd which would come to the third Reunion. So they arranged to have a circus tent 200 feet long set up in Mayo Park, to be used for Reunion headquarters. This had been secured through the activities of Art Nachreiner, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee. It was imported from Milwaukee and proved one of the big hits of the Reunion. The big top was half as large as a Ringling big show tent. Dave McNeff, who was with Barnum and Bailey many years, superintended the raising of the tent.

OLD PHOTOGRAPHS DISPLAYED IN STORE WINDOWS

Several of the Rochester stores made window displays of old photographs. These were centers of attraction and furnished up-town meeting places for Old Boys and Girls.

The display in the C. F. Massey Company window was arranged by Miss Winnie Bonham and Phil Lampman.

Another large display was to be seen in the window of Adams Book store, thanks to the thoughtfulness of Miss Mabel Van Campen.

N. K. Markle arranged large numbers of pictures in the windows of the Knowlton store.

In all cases, interested residents furnished many of the old-time pictures.

The 1926 Reunion started off, on August 12, with a bang. The Old Boys and Girls had been assembling all day in the Old Home Town. They came singly and in groups, the most numerous being the "Twin City Cavalcade," headed by Jim Ells, which arrived at four o'clock. Jim and the Chadbourn Boys had worked up quite a string of autos and an itinerary which included a luncheon served by the ladies of the Farmington Methodist Church in their spacious dining room. The luncheon is reported to have reflected great credit on the ladies of Farmington.

At four o'clock all the Old Boys and Girls were formed into a procession and marched through the streets to the big circus tent which had been set up as Reunion Headquarters in Mayo Park. (For the benefit of any reader who may not have seen Rochester for 25 years, Mayo Park is the old swamp bog east of the Bahly barn and south of the Fifth Street bridge, reclaimed and beautified and presented to the City by Will and Charlie.) In the Tent a Committee was in charge of registration and issued badges to those entitled to them, until the supply ran out.

THE PARADE OF "OLD TIMERS."

One of the biggest "kicks" some of us got was from some old time characters and characteristics of Rochester, familiar to all those who lived there years ago, incorporated into the procession. This part of the program had been organized by Dr. Charlie Granger. They were:

Ike Simonds, driving his stallion in a Sulky.
Adam Stenger, rotund and florid.

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Old Timers Who Were in the Parade

Marshal Kalb, with fierce mustache, night stick, and semi-military cap.

Hamlet Easton and his father, driving to town in the old farm wagon. (Don't you remember that team and wagon?)

"Out for a Horse and Buggy Ride." This might have been any couple of us.

Sam Whitten, with pompous stride and official dignity.

Prof. George W. Lovejoy, giving a music lesson on his old organ. (Charlie Granger vows he resurrected the original Lovejoy organ in an old hay loft.)

Scotch Jane, who did mother's scrubbing and other odd jobs.

Zac Ricker. (Do you remember his beard?)

Charlie Garnett, driving his hack to the depot. On the box with Charlie was a small flaxen-haired girl.

Old Soogan. Those were pre-Volstead days!

The Hickox family out for a ride. Charlie maintains that this was the identical old Hickox hearse.

It was too bad that no picture of this group in action was taken. There seems to be only a snap shot which was taken after the procession had disbanded and which is reproduced herewith. See if you can identify all the characters.

THE OLD-TIME DANCE

The Rochester Armory was again the scene of an old-time dance which included also a program of fancy and costume dancing by some of present Rochester's younger crowd.

Dr. Charlie Granger was Chairman of the Committee in charge of the dance program.

The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting. Fully fifteen hundred people were in attendance.

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Headquarters Tent, in Mayo Park

The reception to the Old Boys and Girls was held in the afternoon of August 13 at the beautiful new home of Dr. Henry S. Plummer, on Quarry Hill. "Quarry Hill" is the "St. Mary's Hill" of Old School days, which has been built up as the fine new residence section of Rochester. Dr. Plummer's residence is on its highest point, commanding a wonderful view of the entire valley of the Zumbro, clear up to Mayo-wood.

The spacious house and grounds proved quite ample to accommodate the crowd and the guests enjoyed a most delightful time. Assisting Mrs. Plummer were Mrs. George Doty, Mrs. Arthur Gooding, Mrs. Ralph Blakely, Mrs. John Norton, Mrs. John O'Rourke, Mrs. Karl Kjerner, Mrs. Arthur Melone and Mrs. Gertrude Berkman. A panoramic picture was taken in the grounds, which is reproduced in sections in this booklet.

REUNION BANQUET

Friday, August 13, 1926.

Thirteen hundred sixty seats were provided at the Old School Boys' and Girls' Association banquet in the big circus tent in Mayo Park, Friday, August 13, 1926, and there were but few vacant places. Long tables were stretched across the space from east to west and the park benches arranged beside them for seats at the feast. As one looked across the length and breadth of the tent, the scene presented was a striking one indeed—this banquet of home folks beneath the giant tent. It was the largest number of people ever gathered to sit down at a festal board in the Queen City.

The schoolmates of other years were called to their meal at 6:30 o'clock and they found at their places large cardboard boxes which were filled with a variety of sandwiches, mixed pickles, salad, hard-boiled eggs, and potato chips. Apple pie a la mode and coffee were served on the side by a group of young business men of the city. Boxes of candy were distributed among the ladies.

Everything went along expeditiously and the Old School Boys and Girls found much enjoyment in exploring the contents of the box lunches and in conversing with neighbors, old and new acquaintances.

At the conclusion of the meal, a number of men and women of the city, organized as a chorus for the occasion, sang "Juanita," "Old Black Joe," and other old favorites, the audience joining in the refrains.

Following the meal there came a transformation under the canvas top which was so startling as to be almost phenomenal. Seven minutes after the signal was given, all of the tables had been moved outside the big tent, and the benches on which the diners sat had been turned to face the platform on which were seated the speakers of the evening and other distinguished guests.

BURT EATON PRESIDES.

The improvised group of songsters sang 'Just a Song at Twilight,' and then Burt W. Eaton, Vice-President of the Old School Boys and

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Headquarters Tent, all Dressed Up for the Banquet

Girls' Association, and Chairman of the evening, took charge of the program.

In his opening remark, he said:

"When I arrived to take my place at this gathering, I noticed that on the right of me sits Dr. C. H. Mayo, here on my left is Dr. W. J. Mayo, and as I look under the white walls of the tent to the West, I see the statue of their father, Dr. W. W. Mayo. I am reminded that during all three gathering that the Old School Boys and Girls have had in this city, Dr. Will and Dr. Charlie have always given to us their hearty co-operation and assistance.

"This is not a home-coming. This is a reunion of school-boys and girls, a meeting of those who have been together before, who have been schoolmates during past years.

"The Rochester Old School Boys and Girls Association is a legally organized corporation. In behalf of the Association I extend hearty, hearty greetings to all of you and wish you a very pleasant time. We think you have been enjoying yourselves thus far, and we certainly want you to continue to do so. We have done everything we could to make it pleasant for you and I hope we have succeeded. I want at this time to extend the thanks of this Association to all the committees for what they have accomplished. It was all a hard, hard grind, and we certainly appreciate the work they did in perfecting the arrangements for this Reunion.

"At the first Reunion in 1916, we had a registration of 400. At the second, in 1921, we had a registration of 900. At the present Reunion, we have registration of 1381. (Applause.) They have come to us from all over the country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Gulf to the Great Lakes. We have them from Mexico, from the Philippines, yes, from all over the world. And what does it mean? It means that you all love old Rochester and that you love your schoolmates." (Cries of "attaboy".)

The Chairman then held up a bunch of letters and telegrams which had come from many of the Old School Boys and Girls who could not be present at the Reunion. "I wish I could take time to read all of them," he cried, "but I cannot. They will be filed in the archives of our Association and the best I can do is to read a few of them here.

"Our general committee sent some flowers to R. Saxe Jones at Seattle, who was our toastmaster at our first Reunion ten years ago, and is now in ill health in a hospital in Seattle. Here is a telegram from him addressed to 'Mayo Park' (Laughter) which reads: 'Flowers received. Beautiful. Thanks. Wish I could be with you.'

"One of our Old School Girls lives in Texas. She writes: 'You will have no more sincere regrets than mine. I cannot be present at the Old School Boys and Girls Reunion, due to the fact that we are now fig farming. This is the beginning of our crop sason. I am sending to represent me, six gallons of fig preserves that I hope all will enjoy at the banquet. Minnie Dansingburg Howell.' The preserves were received. (Cries of 'Where are they?') At a dinner like this, it was not practicable to serve them, so the ladies will have them at the Country Club tomorrow." (Cheers from the ladies.) (Cries of 'Sweets to the sweet.') The Secretary was instructed by the meeting to send the thanks of the Association to Minnie Dansingburg Howell.

ROCHESTER'S FIRST SCHOOL

The Chairman continued: "The first citizens of this community were largely people from the New England states who thought a lot of education. The first settlement in Rochester was made in the fall of 1854. In the spring of 1855 Ad. and Wayne Bucklen built a log school house on the site of the Bonham home—a small log cabin with seats running around the walls of the interior, the first school in Rochester. That was over 70 years ago, when the city was covered with brush and trees, and when deer and wolves ran wild. Tonight we have four of the scholars who attended that school."

Mr. Eaton called the roll:

"Marion Sloan." "Here!"

"Eva Whiting Lovejoy." "Here!"

"Mrs. Alta Wagoner Clifton." "Here!"

"Willie W. Ireland." "Here!"

"There is one more still living—Emily Howard Proudfoot."

Harley Moore, from the audience: "She lives in Portland, Oregon."

The Chairman then read the following letter from Edna W. Pearson:

IF I SHOULD GO BACK TO ROCHESTER

Would Charlie Garnett meet me with his white team hitched to one of Van Campn's hacks?

Would I see my two good friends, Marshal Kalb and Policeman Radabaugh?

Would Jack Magaw give me a ride on John Fulkerson's old delivery wagon?

Would Mr. Bradley still be hauling express with his "tame" horse?

Could I sit in my old seat at the old Central school building and match pennies with John Rommell, Emma Holtz, and Merton Smith?

Would William Hein be there at the bell rope and ask me how far up I was going, and if I were late would he ring the bell until he was sure I was in my seat?

Could I go to the old post office and buy a money order from John Bemis and would Flora Woodworth give me my mail?

Could I buy stationery at Ralph Baker's stand and get a prize in the form of a worm in a box to take to school to annoy my teacher with?

If it rained, would Dennis Holt put my rubbers on?

Could I go to J. H. Wagoner's music store and take a music lesson of Professor Lovejoy?

Could I buy shoes of George Leonard and John Kurtzman?

Could I go to Parmele's hardware store and see Oscar Hanson (with his face as dirty as it always was?)

Could I go to Coon & Allen's and watch them make picture frames and trim caskets?

Could I see the little House that Jack Built on the Cook House corner?

Would Nate King, John Magaw, and Ham Easton sing?

Would I see that wonderful sample of a wedding cake at Stedman's bakery?

Could I go out to Berkman's on a picnic and if it rained and we got wet, because Madge King made us keep away from the team, would Grandma Mayo feed us camphor gum so we wouldn't catch cold, which we never did?

Would Ida Wagoner give me a ride with a couple of her father's colts?

Could we have a dance at Wagoner's and would John Hopkins pay the orchestra for an extra hour so we could dance longer?

Could we go to Baihly's pasture to a circus?

Would Charlie Van Campen be superintendent of Sunday School, and—

Would Brother Brainerd, Miss Rose, and old Colonel Healy be in their seats at church as they always were?

Would I see Williams' the dentist's sign hanging there, the one with the set of teeth that opened and shut automatically?

Could I buy a hat of Miss Alice Miller?

Could I buy a doily at Scott & Everstine's?

Could I buy a blazer of Mary Massey?

Would Edna Emerick get me a book at the library?

Would Will Richardson take my pocketbook away from me, keep it several days, then return it with a lot of good advice on spending money and how to save.

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Part of the Group at the Plummer Reception

Would Dr. Leonard edit the paper while we were in session?

Would Dick Griffin still be standing at his old place at the foot of the stairs leading to his office?

Would Frank Gimbert still be selling groceries?

Could I buy jewelry at Blickle's?

Would I see Joe and Grace Bear?

Would Frank Van Dusen still be delivering ice?

Would Jack Fitzgerald put his balky horse to the old fire engine? Would it buck then?

Would Charlie Garnett unhitch his team from his hack and leave the carriage, with four ladies in it, until after the fire?

Could I ride in the Ferris wheel at the head of Broadway?

If I should fall on my head out of a swing, would Dr. Will Mayo come and sit beside me until I woke up?

I extend my greetings to you all, and hope the reunion will be a success in every detail.

Edna W. Pearson.

The Toastmaster here introduced Dinah Graham Olin, who read a poem she had written, "Lost and Found."

To the great confusion and grief of many of the returning Old Boys and Girls, the streets of Rochester have been renamed.

College Street, Zumbro Street, Main Street, Dubuque Street, and the rest of our picturesque old village streets are no more. Broadway is still Broadway, and Third Street is still Third Street, but all other street names have passed into history.

Broadway is the dividing line east and west; and Center Street, which was old Fifth Street, is the dividing line north and south.

Main Street is now First Avenue, S.W. and N.W.

Franklin Street is now Second Avenue, S.W. and N.W.

Prospect Street is now Third Avenue, S.W. and N.W.

Fourth Street is now First Avenue, S.E. and S.W.

Zumbro Street is now Second Street, S.E. and S.W.

College Street is now Fourth Street, S.E. and S.W.

Dubuque Street is now Third Avenue S.E.

Cherry Street is now Sixth Avenue S.E.

Oakwood Street is now Seventh Avenue S.E. and N.E.

Clark Street is now Seventh Ave. S.W. and N.W.

Cascade road is now Eleventh Avenue S.W. and N.W.

This harrowing state of things inspired the following poem by Dinah Graham Olin:

LOST AND FOUND

Lost! Lost! on the streets of our city,
A "girl"—though we know she is old.
Lost! Lost; is there no one to pity,
And take her in out of the cold?
She was born here, one beautiful summer—
Though 'twas ever so many ago,
But now she seems just a new comer,
Scarcely knowing which way to go.

She is lost, because College is Fourth Street.
Now who could get used to such things?
Lost! Lost! because Fifth Street is Center,
And Zumbro has taken its wings.
She spies a large building called Zumbro,
Named in pity, perhaps, for the street,
The old Zumbro, a once raging river,
Gently winds on its way at her feet.

It's queer how things change in the home town,
When you haven't been back for awhile,—
St. Mary's Hill, far in the country,
Is putting on all sorts of style.
In fact, it has come to the city,
And is famed for its beautiful tower.
We used to go there in the springtime
To gather the first peeping flower.

Dear Lover's Lane, a beautiful pathway
That wound through the shadowy trees,
It's only a dream of the hilltop,
Its name lost on the breeze.

There are built modern homes and many,
The street and the sidewalk are paved,
The trees now are broken and hopeless,
With naught but old memories saved.

But we'll find you, dear sister, and house you,
For the Homecoming's going to be great!
We're expecting a large aggregation
Of school friends, from every state.
We'll dine and we'll dance and we'll visit,
For there's naught like remembering our joys,
We'll forget who is who and be happy,
In the fact that we're Old Girls and Boys.

"I don't think it is necessary for me to say anything in introducing the toastmaster of the evening. He has lived with us all his life. He is known all over the world. He has received more recognition, more degrees, and more diplomas, than any man ought to lug around with him. I have the great pleasure of presenting your old schoolmate and friend, Dr. Charlie Mayo."

DR. CHARLIE MAYO IS TOASTMASTER

Dr. Mayo arose and was greeted with a burst of applause.

DR. MAYO: Mr. Chairman and Old Boys and Girls, or rather, Old Boys and the Girls. Girls don't grow old. What a wonderful heritage we have all had in the development of a new country. We have all known the parents of each other and we have watched this family tree develop. It maks me think of an Irishman who came over to this country and got a job waiting on a table and he heard people telling about their family trees. One day he was telling his friend, Pat, about the matter. 'They do be after telling about their family bush,' said Pat. 'There is your father and mother and their fathers and mothers before them, and they grow out like a tree and that makes the family tree,' he said. 'Sure, thin, I'll have a little family tree myself. I'll be one of the limbs of a family tree.' 'You flatter yourself,' said his friend. 'You won't be any branch of any family bush. You'll just be the sap. (Laughter).'

"Well, we have no saps here. The saps did not came back. If a town is good enough to come from, like Rochester, it is good enough to come back to. So all of us have the greatest welcome for the folks who have come back, the Old School Boys and Girls. It has been wonderful to see each other again and to recall the old scenes.

"Some little troubles have occurred off and on, but the beautiful girls—the Old Girls—come back looking well, and we recognize them as they were when they were young. But a lot of young ones seem to have slipped in. I don't know how they come to be among us old folks. Some of them stood in front of me and said, 'You don't know me, do you?' Of course, I tried to recall one or two, and I had an idea I had operated on them. And so I said, 'Now, if I could see your scars, . . . ?' (Prolonged laughter.) So, on account of not being able to see all your scars, I could not recall all of you.

"I have watched Old Boy Kerr in action and have noted the way he grabbed the Old Girls and kissed them, I knew he knew them well. So I just trailed along after him and I learned how he did it. And then I went around too, and I believe I kissed Will Webber. He looked just wonderful to me. (Laughter.)

"But everything has gone on wonderfully well. There was just one little touch of trouble. When they went through Hickox's old hearse, they found it full of spirits. Fortunately the police were right on hand. So no real trouble occurred.

"I am going to call on one of the Old Boys who has also gone up and on. Not many of us took up religion, but this man did, and he has made good. We expected him to. There were two bishops to come out of Rochester, Bishop Heffron and Bishop Lawler, and I now call on Bishop Lawler, one of the Old Boys of Rochester."

BISHOP LAWLER, OF LEAD, SOUTH DAKOTA

"I have come a long way to be here, all the way from dear, delightful, devilish Deadwood. I am happy to be here tonight, happy to be surrounded in my old home town by the sterling men and women of today, some of whom were my schoolmates of other days.

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Continuation of the Group at the Plummer Reception

"We are all happy to meet once more after having traveled some distance on life's journey, after having experienced the failures and successes, the joys and the sorrows of a lifetime.

"It is needless to remind you that we are as loyal as ever to our old home, as proud of Rochester as we were in the years of long ago, when to our youthful wisdom, it appeared to be a great city, as great as the greatest.

"It is needless to say that it has since become a great city, great in blessings to afflicted humanity. To those in search of the best medical and surgical treatment, it is the Mecca of the world today. (Prolonged applause.) It would be incongruous to speak of it as the splendid home of medical science without giving a just tribute of praise to the Mayos, who above all others have made it what it is.

"All honor to them, and after them to Mother Joseph, and the Sisters of St. Mary's Hospital. They have contributed more than their share to Rochester's greatness. Admirable, almost reckless, was the courage in starting a hospital project among the conditions of forty years ago.

DR. WILL'S FIRST OPERATION

"You will pardon me if I become a little reminiscent. I was present during Dr. Will's first operation. It happened in this way. I had just returned from the University of Louvain, Belgium, to visit with the folks at home. Father Riordan requested me to take care of a sick call. It was my first call as a priest, and it was Dr. Will's first operation as a surgeon. Dr. Will and Dr. Charlie drove out in one of their buggies and Dr. W. W. Mayo and I in another. I cannot assure you that we kept within the speed limits, but we arrived there safely, and Dr. Will performed the operation. So impressed was Dr. Mayo Senior with the skillful work of his son, that all the way back to Rochester, he could not keep from expressing his admiration of it. Again and again he referred to Dr. Will and said, 'He is going to make his mark. Dr. Will will be a great surgeon.'

"Ladies and gentlemen, I do not know who coached Dr. Charlie later on, but I am responsible for Dr. Will. These, our old schoolmates, have become distinguished surgeons who have become as great as the best and the best of the best the world over. They reached their lofty places, not by accident, not by chance, not by some strange contingency, but by dint of unceasing, untiring, consistent application to their cherished profession.

"Are their careers an inspiration to others? They most assuredly are. A great artist was once asked what he mixed with his paint in order to produce his brilliant pictures. His answer was, 'I mix brains with my paints, sir.' It is needless to say that our friends have always mixed brains with their operations in order to get the marvelous surgical results for which they are famous.

"I do not know whether they are geniuses or not, but I do know that they have always been indefatigable workers.

"Somebody said with more truth than elegance that genius is ten per cent inspiration and ninety per cent perspiration. I am inclined to believe it. I am convinced that the necessity of persevering labor for wonderful achievements can never be too strongly emphasized. Hard work, ceaseless work, intelligent work, is the indispensable condition of excellence, a most necessary ingredient in every, in all greatness. Proficiency follows in the footsteps of untiring effort. The harvest is the crown of the seed time. Excellence must follow hard work.

"Is it the merest accident that Shakespeare swept the keyboard of human feeling, that Moore's melodies cheered the human ears? Is it a freak of judgment that the paintings of Raphael and Michael-Angelo make the canvas throb with life? Emphatically, no. If these masters and such as these won recognition, it is because they deserved it. If these achieved fame, it is because of their sacrifices connected with the spark of genius without which no production will ever bear aught but the stamp of mediocrity.

"We had a celebration in Deadwood the other day and we had all that a celebration is,—Deadwood Dick, Calamity Jane, Theodore Roosevelt, and Buffalo Bill. One old settler remarked to another, 'John, how did you enjoy the picnic?' 'Very much,' John replied. 'I had things arranged so that I received a telegram calling me back home before the speech-making began.' I am sorry to have inflicted you with so long a speech." (Applause.)

THE TOASTMASTER: "Mr. Nachreiner did will when he got this big circus tent. It recalls the good times of the old days. The circus was always a big day with us.

"We only had a few real set events. Once in a while something happened in a political way. We boys carried torches in the political processions. We don't see those things any more. Nowadays our politicians have to make good themselves. One of us who has made good as a politician is Frank Kellogg, Secretary of State. Now I am going to introduce another, Congressman Allen J. Furlow of Rochester:

CONGRSSMAN FURLOW SPEAKS

"Mr. Toastmaster (probably I should say, Mr. Ringmaster), and members of the Old School Boys and Girls Association. I find a pretty safe way to play this game is to get on good terms with the toastmaster, so I am not going to let Bishop Lawler outdo me in boasting of the connection he has with the Mayo family. Bishop Lawler has stated that he was present when Dr. Will performed his first operation and that he is responsible for Dr. Will. I want to say that

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Continuation of the Group at the Plummer Reception

Dr. Will was present at my first birthday and that Dr. Will is responsible for me. (Laughter and applause.)

"In behalf of the younger generation, those members who barely squeeze under the wire at 35, I wish to promise their hearty co-operation in carrying on the fine traditions of the Old School Boys and Girls Association.

"Most of you present here are my seniors and I respect my seniors. I was brought up to the ideal that age should be respected, and in view of the fact that I am now a member of the Old School Boys and Girls Association, I hope that I will get my share of respect. I am proud that I was born in Rochester and am qualified for membership in this association.

"I look at this association as being an organization with a national viewpoint, builded upon a local foundation. And what firmer foundation could it have,—a national viewpoint which had its inception in Rochester,—a national viewpoint carried to all four points of the compass by its boys and girls who went to school here?

"It is great to be an Old Boy. I want to say to you that we are with you heart and soul in all that you do or attempt." (Applause.)

THE TOASTMASTER: "I now introduce one of the Old Boys, now an attorney at Luverne, Honorable Edwin H. Canfield."

ED. CANFIELD'S SPEECH

"I never agreed to speak tonight. My friend Mr. Eaton (Turkey Eaton) played a trick on me. I do not profess to be a speaker. When I looked over this audience and saw the distinguished gentlemen here before you, my heart went pit-a-pat. I felt all the more regret that I had to say something. I felt like the fellow who was driving a team. He had fractious horses. He had a heavy load to put on and no place where he might tie the horses. Then he had an idea. He tied the horses' lines to his ankles while he was putting on the load. The horses got frightened at something and started to run. Our friend followed. After he had gone some distance, he was thrown free and they picked up what was left of him. When he came to, he straightened up and said, 'You know, I hadn't gone eighty rods before I saw that I had made a mistake.'

"I had an idea that the members of this association would be growing old. I thought that they would age with the flight of time. I want to tell you that as I have looked upon these Old School Boys and Girls and watched their undignified antics, I came to the conclusion that they are more youthful than they were forty years ago. I am inclined to think that the name of the association ought to be changed, especially that part where the word 'Old' appears.

"I have always been proud of Rochester, although I was not born here. But I got here just as quickly as my parents would let me. I remember in the spring of '66, coming into Rochester in a covered wagon, as we got to the corner where the Cook House stands. They had just started the Heaney Block. Cap Heaney was the most important character in Rochester. He owned the 'Star of the West.'

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Continuation of the Group at the Plummer Reception

"I am always proud to say that I came from Rochester. I don't think there is another city in the world of the same size that has given to the world so many men of distinction as has Rochester. The other day I thought I would try to think of some of the boys I could call to memory. I counted over fifty lawyers, many of whom have attained distinction. Three of them became members of the United States Senate. The latest of these is Frank B. Kellogg. I remember when he began his work and the discouragements he had to face. I remember another Senator who lived over south on a farm, a boy of modest appearance. I went to school with him, Porter J. McCumber.

"Then there are the doctors. I don't like to have much to do with doctors. But there are a lot of them. From Rochester they have scattered all over the country.

"And there are clergymen. Many of them attained distinction. Near my own town died that benevolent man, Bishop O'Gorman, who was a priest here for a long time. And there are others." (Applause.)

THE TOASTMASTER: Two little children were comparing notes. One of them was an adopted child. He said, 'I am an adopted child, I know. My parents picked me. Yours just had to keep you.' We have, so to speak, adopted an outside Old Boy. He slipped in unawares and married Miss Doig. Several times he has been speaker of the Minnesota House of Representatives and now he is Lieutenant Governor. I take pleasure in introducing W. I. Nolan."

ADDRESS OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR W. I. NOLAN

"Old Boys and Girls, I think the toastmaster has established the status of the speaker. I am glad that the doctor did not take occasion to say some things that he might have said.

"A speaker usually looks forward to the introduction he is going to get. I have been introduced by a great many introducers. I don't believe I was ever tempted to do an introducer bodily harm except on one occasion. One time I traveled through the country on a Chautauqua circuit and delivered a highly edifying address. After one program was over, a gentleman introduced himself and complimented me on the speech. 'I am glad I heard what you had to say, for tomorrow night you will speak in my town and I am going to introduce you.' He did.

"He told his audience that I would enliven my address with a number of good stories, and then he proceeded to tell the stories. He said that I had a message to deliver, and then he delivered it. When he had finished his introduction, he had told all of my stories and delivered most of my speech. No one ever found out what became of that particular introducer.

"The toastmaster also called attention to the fact that I am the Lieutenant Governor, and this requires some explanation. The Lieutenant Governor is not the Governor, but it is proper to address him as Governor. This is the best compensation that goes with the office. The Lieutenant Governor bears about the same relationship to the Governor as a certain legal beverage does to the real thing. A Lieutenant Governor is not an executive. He is not a member of the legislative body over which he presides but in which he does not have a voice. I don't know what his duties consist of other than presiding over the Senate whether the Senate likes it or not, except filling the post of Governor in an eventuality, so I spend a good deal of time in getting bulletins on the health of the Governor.

"I don't know how to better describe the relationship than by saying that the Lieutenant Governor is a spare tire on the automobile of state and is to be used in case of an emergency. I will submit that if ever there is an emergency, you want to be sure that your spare isn't a flat tire. You might say that there is no danger. 'You meet all the requirements—wind.'

"I have been introduced as a brother-in-law of the Old Boys and Girls. Most families have an in-law that they are not proud of and for whom it is necessary to make many apologies. A brother-in-law can always be used to prove that one member of the family has been guilty of a serious error of judgment. A brother-in-law is a social liability that requires a great deal of explaining. At family reunions, a brother-in-law is not always required to sleep in the garage much as he is denied consideration as to his social status. I am here as a brother-in-law of the Boys and Girls of Rochester. You know, a brother-in-law sometimes feels that he is in because he has attached himself through matrimony, but as a rule he is not in unless it is that he is in bad.

"I know that you know that I don't know enough to talk in a vein of reminiscence. I did not spend my boyhood in Rochester. But, I had a boyhood and had to spend it somewhere. The average American boy has the same experience.

I think I was the average. I was a trial to my parents and teachers and the cause of a good many misgivings on the part of the neighbors. I was not particularly bright and was not a handsome child. The manly beauty you now see was acquired later in life.

"I could not be born in Rochester, but when I decided to be married, one of the first requirements was that the lady came from Rochester. In that way, I hope, I established relationship enabling me to be present at these gatherings. You who are from Rochester have every reason to be proud of the city that you hail from.

"It has been my experience to travel all over the United States and most of the Canadian provinces. Wherever I have gone people have said, 'You are from Minnesota?' 'Yes,' I have answered. 'That is the state where Rochester is located,' they say. 'We have heard of it so much. We expect to go there some day. Whenever we have to have an operation, we intend to go to Rochester.' Rochester is probably the most famous community in Minnesota. I try to tell them that Minneapolis is, but I do not get away with it. The best I can do is to say that I have some connections here. I am proud of Rochester, Minnesota. We are all proud of Rochester because it is, after all, a part of the great state of Minnesota, and those who are native, take pride in what has been accomplished by the men and women of Minnesota in her development, and Rochester has a great deal to be proud of in this respect, as was stated this evening. It has produced a man who is third highest in the United States. He is the second man of Minnesota to hold a cabinet position. It has produced men who are leaders in every profession and leaders in the field of religion and business. In Minneapolis, where I live, some of the greatest leaders of business and the professions, hail from Rochester. So you of Rochester have much to be proud of, and, after all, the community is just as are the men and women which it produces.

"I am glad to be with you this evening at your reunion. I am glad of the fact that Rochester is in my state. My father and mother came to Minnesota when it was a territory. I was born in Minnesota. The lady with whom I have lived for thirty-three years, more or less peacefully, was born in Minnesota. So was our son-in-law. So were our children and grandchildren. So we belong and are proud of anything that Minnesota can do or anything that any of her communities can do.

Part of the Group in Mayo Park

"An in-law is usually expected to be seen and not heard. He really has no part in the conversation. He is only expected to speak when he is spoken to. Recognizing this fact, I am going to subside." (Prolonged applause.)

THE TOASTMASTER: "We like to keep track of the boys that lived in Old Rochester and we are always proud when they make good. I now introduce John Paul Goode."

PROFESSOR GOODE'S ADDRESS

"Boys and girls of long ago, I feel proof sure that I can speak from the hearts of hundreds of boys and girls when I tell you what a joy it is to come back after 42 years and find so many of the Old Boys and Girls and discover that they have not forgotten. We have remembered you. This is a joy that does not come to many people, only the happy people able to come back home can have this joy. We have heard a recital of the men who have gone out from Rochester and who have made good, who have won distinction.

"The list of the boys and girls of Rochester who have won distinction is a splendid one. I would like to say a word or two of one of them—the boy who built the dam at Keokuk,—Hugh Cooper. He was educated in Minnesota and is now one of the world's greatest hydro-electric engineers. And now he is going to put a dam across the Bay of Fundy to harness the tides and create 1,000,000 horsepower of energy. There is a fine distinction which attaches to this achievement. You know that the energy of the tides is due to the pull of gravity between the sun and the earth and the moon and the earth. He will be getting energy from moonshine.

"Why is it that so many boys and girls have gone out from this community and made good? I will tell you why. It is because the stream of young people who came into this country when it was new was of a very superior grain,—my father and mother and your father and mother. They came here and plowed up the sod. These young men and young women were taking part in one of the most remarkable conquests in the history of the world. What we say of this can be duplicated in many communities all the way down the Mississippi River on both sides. You have read of it in a very fascinating book by Hamlin Garland, 'One Man's Life.' It tells the story of the coming of the pioneers. You can name every one of the book's characters in the people you knew here. I can do it myself, and we have it written as history that the young men and women of those days were a generation of pioneers. I, myself, was born at Stewartville.

Continuation of the Group in Mayo Park

"Who were they? These chosen people, young men and women of strength of character, temperate, and with great ideals. They had courage and energy in their going into the wilds and facing unknown dangers, all this to make a home. Would it not be strange if they did not produce a crop similar to themselves? Burbank showed us this in plants, in selection. That was what was going on when your parents came. So when we were born, we were born into a very superior environment. You are the result of the culture of your parents and those who have gone before. We have every reason to be proud. No people had a superior heritage.

"I remember we used to look askance at some of the emigrants we did not understand. We spoke with humor of Scandinavians because we had difficulty in understanding them. Now we know better.

"I have traveled much and have observed other people elsewhere, and I know that we had a very superior people even among those foreigners. The finest blood of Germany came our way, and people of courage and energy came to us. The Scandinavians who came had in them the making of the highest type of American citizenship that ever came over. They had the blood of the vikings of old. Their blood is the best the world has had to offer. We ought to take off our hats to the fathers and mothers of that part of our race.

Continuation of the Group in Mayo Park

"We had as teachers some of the best that ever lived. There were Sanford and Priscilla Niles, with as fine an influence as ever came into the lives of young men. The inspiration the boys and girls got is a most precious thing. I honor their memory. And then there were others. In the Rochester Seminary there came into my life H. Bretherick. He and his wife were very superior musicians. There was the inspiration of A. W. Blakley.

"Boys and girls got their inspiration here and went out into the world. The same good blood is here all the time.

"There were the Mayos. They stayed at home and all their ideals were realized and the world has made a beaten path to their door.

"We are proud of Rochester and of Minnesota. It is a great joy to come back. I am grateful to Dr. Grove Cross, Stiles Jones, and Charlie and Rod Chadbourn and others who invented this institution and established a tradition which will last through centuries. We can see what the next generation can do in this young Congressman we have here, Allen J. Furlow.

THE TOASTMASTER: "There was once a horse-trader who went to church. The minister called on the horse-trader and told him his needs. The horse-trader brought out a horse and the minister took him by the halter. 'He looks pretty good,' said the minister. 'He does not look good,' said the horse-trader. The horse-trader felt as if he were between the devil and the deep sea. He wanted to sell the horse, but not to his minister. He ran the horse around again and said, 'He does not look good.' The minister said, 'I think he looks good and I will take him.' Six days afterward the minister came back to the horse-trader and said, 'That horse you sold me is blind.' 'I told you,' replied the trader, 'that he did not look good.'

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Continuation of the Group in Mayo Park

"I told this story because it is inappropriate, for our next speaker does look good. He is our old friend Archie P. Gove."

MR. GOVE

"Boys and girls of all ages. I am sure I don't know why I was put on the program, unless it was because of the long ticket it took for me to get here,—from Los Angeles to Rochester. I did not come from Deadwood or Chicago or Minneapolis or Luverne, but I came a longer distance, and that is the only excuse for my speaking. It was not because I am gifted with a message. I did not leave California as some people have left it. But a few days ago I saw a Ford coming out of the state. It had a sign on it, 'Good-by, California, land of lemons, prunes and nuts.'"

"Long ago in the old Masonic Temple a man came to speak at a booster picnic for the Commercial Club. He looked around and said, 'You are well situated. On the east you have the insane hospital, on the south the poor house, on the west St. Mary's Hospital, and on the north, the cemetery. You are altogether too smug, but in such an environment you cannot come to any good end.' He should have said that Rochester stood in a good position to give relief. In the state institution people do better many times than they would at home; the poor house shelters many a person who would have no refuge; you all know from long experience the wonderful relief of St. Mary's hospital. And as to the cemetery, we cannot beat it anyway.

"This gathering would not be possible but for the spirit of friendship, and this spirit was never more beautifully exemplified than in the last three days. It makes my heart beat fast to see the people who have come back and have been received with a kindly look and with the feeling that they are among friends. There has not been one word of harsh criticism, not one caustic word. The words that we have heard the most are, 'How glad I am to come.' This should convince you that there is but one spirit to this meeting and that is the spirit of eternal friendship. I understand that in the old office of Dr. Mayo, Graham & Judd, there was the old poem, 'The House by the Side of the Road.' The spirit of that poem—being a friend to man—is the spirit shown here. It was never shown to greater proportion in any place in the country.

Continuation of the Group in Mayo Park

"There has been considerable mention of Frank B. Kellogg. I have heard my father say how he started as office boy in his office reading law and doing chores. And now he is a great power in the land.

"There is another Rochester Old Boy who has made good—John Willis Baer. He is connected with a large banking institution, but he makes of business a friendly matter.

"But I don't want to be like some speakers, noted for length rather than for depth. A man who had that reputation was called on to make a speech of not more than ten minutes. At the end of ten minutes he had just got to going good and there seemed no way to stop him. Finally the chairman decided to strike his gavel to let the speaker know that his time was up. In his excitement, the gavel slipped and knocked a man down below, unconscious. When he came to, he gasped 'Hit me again. I can still hear him.'" (Applause).

THE TOASTMASTER:

"The truths of today are not always those of tomorrow. The old things which seemed true are constantly being renewed. Even that story of the apple is being refuted as to being the cause of all our troubles. It seems that it was not an apple at all but only a green pair.

"All of us boys remember how we got our exercise. Will sawed wood while I split, but we were all in the same boat. We had no Y. M. C. A. to get indoor sport. We got our exercise at home and elsewhere. Everything we did was fun. One of the Old Boys said yesterday, that that period in our lives where we cease to grow is where we quit growing at both ends and continue in the middle."

Continuation of the Group in Mayo Park

"I now introduce Charlie Clark, of Manila."

CHARLIE CLARK said: "Old Boys and Girls. It will be noted that I omitted the adjective 'Old' when I spoke of the girls. I am reminded of the story of the meek man who had been consulting his doctor about his wife's health. When he left, the doctor said, 'Tell your wife not to be worried. It is merely a sign of advancing age.' Mr. Meek Man said, 'Would you mind, doctor, telling her that yourself?'"

"I have been asked to say something about the Philippine Islands. I am reminded of the story of the sailor who had been in the service for thirty years or so. Finally he decided he would like to see some of the home folks. So he went back and found an old uncle. The uncle was delighted with the sailor nephew's visit and was plying him with questions. 'I suppose you have had many narrow escapes,' he said. 'Well, yes,' replied the sailor, 'I have had some, but I don't go ashore any oftener than I have to.'

"The Philippines are wet. There, at least, the Constitution does not follow the flag. But I want to say that there is very little drinking among the Americans who live there. If they drink much, they are sent home in a box.

"I don't believe you can understand my emotion at being here with you at this time. This is the first time I have had an opportunity to coincide my real visit to the United States with a reunion of this kind."

Mr. Clark proceeded to give a very interesting and complete account of the Philippine Islands. He said among other things that the islands had been occupied just 28 years to a day at the time he was speaking. Unfortunately while he was talking the wind or some other cause made the electric lights go on and off continually, thus marring the pleasure of listening to Mr. Clark's speech, and making it impossible for the official reporter to follow the trend of his remarks intelligently enough to set them down for future reference.

THE TOASTMASTER: "When I was a small boy, mother used to cut father's old clothes down for me. Then the next speaker got a job working in Poole's store and out of his earnings bought me my first suit of store clothes. I remember that old suit. I wish I had it yet."

"I introduce my brother, Dr. Will."

ADDRESS OF DR. W. J. MAYO

"Old Boys and young Girls. I have been put on here to close up. I am glad that there has been only one element of any unfortunate consequence during the meeting and that the guilty gentleman (Kerr) has now so blistered his lips that he will not be able tomorrow to officiate with the young ladies. They are to be congratulated.

"The Bishop has spoken of my early operation and the Congressman has spoken of another effort on my part. But my love of surgery and doing good and helping those who are sick or liable to be, really took place at a much earlier date. Some of you may remember a little devil known as Jim Ells, and once he gave a little entertainment known as a 'ten-pins' affair. Among other things, Jim Ells was to be a prestidigitator and was to find two ancient eggs under the hat of a little boy. When that boy wiped his eyes, he saw a hatchet and started after Jim Ells. It was only when he was tripped up that Jim escaped with his life, and yet Ells, the bad boy, like all bad boys, turned out well.

"I have been asked to speak about the future of the Clinic. Since my brother and myself are only two of 131 doctors on the permanent staff, and there are something over 200 doctors as assistants on the Fellowship staff, to say nothing of the fact that the non-medical workers of the Clinic bring the total number to over 1,000, it perhaps will not be considered as showing a lack of modesty to tell something about the plans of the organization for the future.

"Patrick Henry said that the only way to judge of the future is by the past. The Clinic originated in the surgical practice of my father, and continued to develop along the lines that had been laid down in previous generations. Every person who comes to the Clinic, without regard to race, creed, social or financial condition, is cared for. All those who are able pay a fee for the service which seems fair under the circumstances.

"The guiding principle of the institution has been that it is not a private business, and that after a reasonable return is made to the workers, any funds remaining shall go to the formation of an endowment to continue the purposes of the Clinic in perpetuity.

"How has it been possible for this great growth to take place? As I look around over the 1,300 old boys and girls of more than 35 years ago, I have the answer. It has been the character of the population of Rochester and Olmsted County and the surrounding territory that has made possible an institution based on ideals.

"We may not always think too highly of Congress and its acts, and yet perhaps the greatest contribution to the future of the United States was made when Congress passed the immigration act which limited the people who enter the United States to a large extent from those countries which furnished the first settlers of this country, in order that the ideals of these hardy pioneers, both in government and in social relationships, might be continued. The pioneers of this country were of the energetic races, which, while speaking different languages, English, German, Scandinavian and Dutch, are basically the same. Of later years there has come an increasing number of people from the Latin countries, who have had no comparable ideals, who never in their history have understood liberty to mean anything but license, and who believe that not moral obligation, but strength governs the ruling classes.

"At least 89.7 per cent of the people in Olmsted County were born in the United States, and 98.7 per cent in the country in the southern part of the state are of the same stock from which the American pioneers sprung. They are an intelligent and sympathetic people, interested in the welfare of their fellowmen.

THE MAYO CLINIC

"The people of the community have taken the greatest interest in the Clinic and have shown a desire to help the people who through sickness have become more or less helpless and have come here for aid. A stranger in Rochester who asks assistance meets ready response.

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Any townsman will walk a block out of the way to point a direction.

"It has been the desire of the Clinic, which seems now to be fairly well satisfied, to develop endowments so that in times to come, certain functions of the Clinic may be continued through lean years. Such endowments are now in existence and are being increased as fast as is reasonably possible.

THE CLINIC BUYS THE OLD SCHOOL HOUSE

"Expansion in the future has had to be considered. With this in mind, we purchased old Central school house, where most of us here to-night went to school so many years ago, and are now repairing it as temporary offices until the new Clinic building can be finished. We wish to maintain the grounds as a park for the sick people and for the people of Rochester, and when the building can be released, we contemplate converting it into a community house with rest rooms, and with offices for those engaged in work related to the public good: the visiting nurse, the health officer, and others in departments of civic life that advance the welfare of the community. The people of Rochester have proved that it is possible to work together for community purposes.

Two functions of the Clinic are receiving an increasing amount of attention. While we expect to continue and increase as much as possible our usefulness to the sick, we propose to advance as far as we can research into the causes and prevention of disease, so that there may be less sickness in the future than in the past. This work is gradually extending and is now a serious project, excelled by no organization in hope for the future, and perhaps in present fulfillment.

"The third project of the Clinic lies in furthering higher education. When I attended school, education meant concentration on a few subjects—height of education, rather than breadth. The idea of education has changed. Today the desire is not to teach the student a few things as facts, but to teach him facts in relation to life as a whole. This is not only true of our undergraduate schools, where so many different vocations are taught—for instance, domestic science and carpentry—but also of our universities. The need for general culture as a background for life work, is recognized.

"When a foundation of general education has been laid, some men must become highly trained along a few lines, and it is here that we believe the relationship of the Clinic with the state university will lie, that through development of education the Clinic will, perhaps, have its greatest usefulness. The man who is graduated from the medical school and serves his time in a hospital, we may consider has laid a sound foundation for the practice of medicine. If he desires to become a surgeon, or to become a specialist in any line, such as orthopedics, or eye and ear work, he should be educated broadly in that line, just as he already has been educated broadly in general education. The Clinic is able to enter, in medicine and surgery, where the public school and the university stop, by taking a small number of men and training them highly for certain definite purposes.

The Clinic in the future will devote itself to the man who is sick, to the prevention of sickness, and finally, to the training of men who have shown aptitude for special fields in medicine."

(Applause).

The Association passed a resolution of respect for Judge Charles E. Callaghan, a Rochester Old Boy who died suddenly that morning.

The audience then sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and the meeting adjourned.

THE BANQUET FOR THE OLD GIRLS

On Saturday afternoon, August 14, a special program was provided for the visiting Old Girls at the Rochester Country Club.

MARION L. SLOAN, the teacher in the first public school on the East side of the river, now 80 years of age, had most appropriately been chosen as Chairman and Toastmistress.

The resources of the spacious Country Club were taxed to capacity to take care of the Old Girls who came, but all were well served and the program was quite equal to that of the banquet the night before in the Big Tent.

Speeches were made by Gertrude Mayo Berkman, Dollie Markham Josselyn, Helen Berkman

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Judd, Maggie McElligott Heffron, Kate Jones Petteler, and Margaret Sullivan, daughter of John Sullivan, the janitor of the old school building.

A poem, "The Path Through the Wheat" was read by Dinah Graham Olin.

Solos and duets were furnished by Mesdames Spencer Knapp, Ralph Blakely and Ole Lee.

Maud Collin MacCarty and Francenia Bliss Irish presided at the piano.

The ladies enjoyed the six gallons of preserved figs which had been sent to the Reunion by Minnie Dansingburg Howell, of Dickinson, Texas, from whom a letter had been read at the banquet the previous evening.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME BY MISS SLOAN

"You scarce expect one of my age, to speak in public on the stage, but if anything inspires speech, it is this room full of school girls of long ago. As I vision you, with your hope and cheer and song, how pretty you were with your dresses worn mostly below the knee, your pantallettes, your neat white aprons, hair braided and tied with bright ribbons. Now, by some miracle of Nature, like the chrysalis of the butterfly, you have been transformed into this representative gathering of women, all of you of importance in your own locality and many of you of more extended influence.

"Dear old young girls of the Rochester schools, we are very glad to see you and hope you are as happy in being here as we are to have you here, and that you have and will have enjoyed every minute of your stay with us and in five years from now you will all be present with us again.

"You may come from far away and near, and from the East and West, the North and South, to clasp each other's hands, look in each other's faces, sing 'Auld Lang Syne' and 'God Be With You Till We Meet Again,' renew old friendships and form lasting new ones. May many more happy years, unbroken friendships, cheerful recollections, be yours.

"As I look around these tables and into these various countenances, and note the temperament, character, and attainments of each, I feel sure you have all scaled your mountain peaks in the journey of life and trodden your valleys, experienced your aspirations and hopes and their fulfillments, as well as disappointments which are the common lot of all,—as I look, I am reminded of the words of Kipling when he says, 'The captain's lady and Julie O'Grady are sisters under the skin,' and that is what I wish to say today. We are all sisters in our fond recollections of and love for the Rochester schools and their faithful, efficient, and kindly teachers. They have left their impress on each and every one of us."

In her "REMINISCENCES OF OLD CENTRAL," Dollie Markham Josselyn said:

"We heard so much last night about the inappropriateness of 'Old Girls' that I am going to call you 'Girls'.

Old Pupils of Niles' School

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

"When Miss Sloan first asked me to give a short talk on 'Reminiscences of the Old Central School,' I was inclined to be peeved. I never had laid claim to being the first white child born in Olmsted County or any similar distinction. I felt there were many older ladies who could so much more capably handle the subject. And then I began to think, and when I realized that I could reminisce clear back to the reign of grim visaged Professor Darius Steward, I knew I was no longer the young thing I had been thinking I was. Then incidents, some serious, some amusing, began to appear before my mind like pictures thrown on a screen. All the splendid women who had guided our destinies through the formative years. My first teacher, Miss Mamie Cook, later Mrs. Livermore, and later still Mrs. Van Campen; Miss Hattie Smith; Miss Margaret McElligott, now Mrs. Heffron; Miss Hattie Cook, now Mrs. Doty (there were nine Cook girls, and I did my best by them); Miss Gould; Miss Peck; Miss Phelps, now Mrs. Gooding. Why, with such a background, we should have gone far up the ladder of fame. And with Miss Gramling to make us open our mouths and sing, ('If you can't do anything else, hum'), we should have produced a Galli Curci.

I always recall with a thrill of pride one occasion when Miss Peck was called out of town, how she chose me because I was a little less dumb in Latin than some other subjects, to conduct her classes in her absence. And quaking on the inside, but on the outside as good as any Roman, I saw the day through.

"In those days we didn't give readings, we gave recitations, and Dolly Slade was our star performer. She could be relied upon to recite 'And the goblins 'll get you if you don't watch out,' in a manner calculated to send the shivers down one's spinal column.

"I wonder how many of you recall one red-letter day in the Assembly room on the second floor of old Central, Miss Emma Allen in charge. Miss Allen was a short, stout, lady with piercing black eyes, and she used said eyes largely to maintain order. This particular day she had glared somebody into behavior, slowly and majestically stepped back on the platform, and ignominiously sat down in the waste-paper basket. There she stuck fast until some gallant senior—it might have been Will Richardson, I don't just recall—helped her to her feet, when she said, still without a smile, 'Thank you, young ladies and gentlemen, for not laughing.'

"And then came our graduation in the old Grand Opera House. We had no wonderfully equipped gym, no fine swimming pool, no course in domestic science, but we did occupy first the present site of the High School. The fire which to badly damaged old Central, drove us for our last year to Darling's Business College which was fortunately available at that time. Our class was the largest, with one exception, that had been sent out up to that time,—thirteen girl graduates, and two brave boys. Not long ago a friend said to me, 'You know, Dollie, yours was the last commencement I attended.' And who could blame her, when you consider sitting more or less patiently while fifteen young things proclaimed fifteen orations. But there was one outstanding enlivening situation in an otherwise heavy evening. Jessie Whited owned a small pug dog. Just as she was well launched on her oration, this small dog trotted out from the wings, sat down beside her, and duly impressed with the gravity of the affair, at intervals howled dismally. Professor Budlong came to the rescue and carried the struggling canine out.

"This is station OB&OG, Rochester, Minnesota, signing off at exactly 2:57 P. M., Central Standard time. We will be on the air again in five years on every wave length and we hope you will all be listening in. Good-bye, Old Girls."

MAGGIE McELIGOTT HEFFRON, whose subject was "THE SCHOOL OF OLDEN DAYS."

"When the lilt of an old song brings to mind the time when hearts were light and hopes were high.

"When the scent of a rose calls back the glamour of the first budding romance.

"When the flashing red and yellow of the old hard maple tree in the back yard gives an echo of the thrill that came when the first frosty Saturday meant hazelnuts and butternuts were ripe and we could go nutting.

"When the scrunch of the footstep in the snow on a wintry night, or the occasional (nowadays) silvery jingle of a sleighbell stirs the memory of the wonderful sleighride parties with their joke and laugh and song.

"When we see the faces and hear the voices of our friends of bygone days at such a gathering as this, our thoughts go winging back to schools of olden days.

"Then (as now) all persons and events revolved about the sun of their existence—the teacher.

"For many of us here, that best of all teachers was a one-time county superintendent, author of a series of geographies widely used, and with his wife, founder and teacher of a Select School, Sanford C. Niles.

"The school was held in the old Heaney Block, now occupied by Knowlton Brothers for their department store. If some morning you were to visit that school of long ago, the following is part of the roll call you would hear.

"Clara Blake, Minnie Hoag, Clare W. Blakely, Mabel Niles, May Walden, Oliver Niles, Katy Leonard, Kitty Wardell, J. Paul Goode, Christopher Graham, Willie Hoag, Kate Elder, William J. Mayo, Ida Hoag, Elbert Vine, Dinah Graham, Margaret McElligott, Gus Siekert, Amelia Hatfield, Elwin Callaghan, Lizzie Hale, Edna Staples, John J. Lawler, Ada Gooding.

"As a teacher in the schools of olden days, it was a privilege in Room 11 of the old Central School to have as superintendent, a man of whom the High School Annual of 1923 says:

"As citizens of the district during those early years look back over the work that was accomplished and the standards that were established, the superintendency of Darius Steward seems to stand out preeminently. A natural teacher and a born leader, he left an impression upon the schools felt even down to the present time."

"The fact that this superintendent believed that fractions well taught could be made a joy and that the skill attained in fractions reacted through all their school life, this fact gave his students such ideals of accomplishment as made them citizens of whom any community may be proud, and when these same students as fathers came to choose a college for their sons, it is not surprising to find many choosing Dartmouth, the college which produced Darius Steward.

"It may be interesting to you to know who were some of the students in Room 11 in those days. They were:

"Martin Beatty, Nina Churchill, Ella Bradley, Anna Fitt, Maud Collin, Bessie Bamber, Agnes Feeney, Edith Bamber, Daisy Gustine, George Hall, James Jenkins, James Allen, Wallace Jessup, Gertie Miller, Austin Kennedy, Minnie Morrison, Edgar Sisson, Emma Graetz, Edith Richardson, Louis Rommell, Jessie Whited, George Knowlton, Nina Cook, Elsie Durken, Clara

"Rochester may well be proud to honor one held in such high esteem throughout the state. This was evidence when last May at St. Cloud Normal School, a state reception was tendered him to commemorate his sixty-three years of teaching, at the ripe age of eighty years.

"Not only was distinguished work done in Nile's private school and the public high school, but also in the Academy of Our Lady of Lourdes. Many present remember its pioneer teachers—Sister Hyacinth, Sister Kostka, and Sister Augustine, with Sister Leo and Sister Celestine later. Its courses were thorough and excellent; its ethical standing, high. Its graduates were received into the state Normal Schools and the State University without examinations. The highest examination ever passed up to that time in Olmsted County for first grade teacher's certificate was passed, according to Fayette Cook in his report to the local paper, by one who had made all her studies in these subjects in the Academy, and in these days of prohibition, it may be interesting to recall a saying of the superintendent that when he saw the name of this school at the head of an examination paper on Temperance Hygiene, which was a requirement in those days, he might as well mark it 100 per cent. Because he would have to do so anyhow when he read it. Among the students and graduates of this time were:

Margaret Sullivan, James Manahan, Nellie McCloskey, Julia Garvey (Allen), Elizabeth Heyman (Sister DeSales), Mary Noonan (Sister Celestine), Molly Sullivan (Heffron) Catherine McCloskey, Mary Connell (Chute), Mary Kelly (Sister Irene), Gertrude Aberwald (Walsh), Thomas Lawler, Elizabeth McCormick, Stephen Condron (Father Condron), Anna Ryan (Sister Anastasia), Mary Norton (Lawler), John McGovern, Anna Lawler (Spillane), Celia Vaughn, Frank Zimmerman, Nellie Kavanaugh (Brennan), Belinda Rice (Schlitz), Mary Walsh (Callaghan), Rhoda Emery, James Garvey, John Norton, Austin Kennedy, Anna Garvey (Murphy), Thomas Garvey, Alice Kelly (McGraw), Elizabeth Feeney, Katherine Berry, Simon Feeney, Margaret Kavanaugh, Elizabeth Fakler, Madora Nye (Page), J. Ted Beatty.

"If from this brief look back into the days that are gone, you realize that the schools of olden days carried on gloriously the torch of learning to the generations of today, then the Association of Old Boys and Girls is worth while and here's hoping we'll all be present at the next meeting."

HELEN BERKMAN JUDD, upon the topic, "OUR SCHOOLS OF TODAY," said:

"You have heard about the lady who couldn't say 'no.' Well, I'm it. My only excuse for inflicting myself on you, is the fact that Miss Sloan couldn't get anyone else to do it.

"The subject assigned me, 'Schools of Today,' is altogether too large to be handled at one sitting. And I'm sure most of you know more about it than I do. Those who don't, can get first-hand information from any school prospectus. There you will find out all about the wonderful things children are being taught in every line of endeavor, how their physical welfare is supervised as thoroughly as their mental, to say nothing of the hours of play.

"So, with your permission, I'd like to say a few words about the young animal who attends these schools. In other words, I rise in defense of the modern generation. As nearly as I can ascertain, there always has been the problem of the Young Folks. At any rate, none of my mother's children or grandchildren have as yet ridden on a cowcatcher, and that's what she did when she was young.

"Has it ever occurred to you that instead of being a Problem of the Rising Generation, it may be one of the Setting One? Dudley Crafts Watson, in commenting on life in a certain city, said that whenever a movement was on foot in which it was necessary to interest the women, all the telephoning had to be done before 10 o'clock in the morning, because after that 'Mother' was gone for the day. The three modern curses, the automobile, the movies, and bridge, have so changed our mode of living that frequently Johnnie and Mary cannot find Mother, when they come home from school. Consequently, they don't come home, but go off in some one's car instead.

"I don't want to pull any sob stuff about the passing of the American home, but right here I would like to quote one of our teachers. She said, 'The one hard thing about teaching is the indifference of most parents.' And it is true that many parents do not know what subjects their children are taking,—do not even know the names of their children's teachers. And yet they expect those teachers to take the entire responsibility for the moral training of their boys and girls.

"It can't be done! That is one job which must be done at home if it is to be done right. And it seems to me the solution of this problem is very simple. Let's make the children feel that in spite of being their parents, we are also their friends."

THE OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

THE GROWTH OF THE ASSOCIATION

Some of the Old Boys and Girls who live in Minneapolis came to the conclusion that the reunions were getting to be affairs of such importance that those who live outside of Minneapolis should be allowed to have some part in them, so with the consent of the officers of the Association they issued the following letter:

To All Old Boys and Girls Who Live Away from Rochester:

Greeting:

The third Reunion of the Old Boys and Girls of Rochester last August was held by everyone who was there to have been the most successful and enjoyable of them all.

The citizens of Rochester are splendid hosts, so we blithely voted at the banquet to have them invite us again in five years. But some of us who live in Minneapolis are wondering whether all this is fair to the Rochester folks. They spent thousands of dollars in entertaining us, which was raised by assessing the Old Boys and Girls who still live in Rochester.

We have written to a considerable number of the Old Boys and Girls asking their opinion of a plan to give the rest of us a part in the Association and have responses from sixty or more that they are heartily in favor of such a plan.

So we have taken up the matter with the Rochester Old School Boys and Girls Association (Incorporated) and have persuaded them to agree to the following plan:

To admit as Active Members all persons over forty years of age who attended school in Rochester.

To admit their wives or husbands as Associate Members.

To establish a list of Honorary Members.

Dues One Dollar per year, all classes.

Any member may be a Director, but all officers shall be residents of Rochester.

To publish and mail to each member a bulletin containing the names and addresses of all persons who are known to be eligible to membership and to publish an annual supplement each year.

The Articles of Incorporation, which had previously confined membership in the Association to the Old Boys and Girls still resident in Rochester, were changed to include those living away from Rochester, and now read as follows:

ROCHESTER OLD SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS ASSOCIATION

Qualifications for Active Membership:

Any person who attended school in Rochester and has reached the age of forty years may become an Active Member by filling out and signing an application and paying dues of One Dollar for each calendar year. Active members will receive the Bulletin and Supplements.

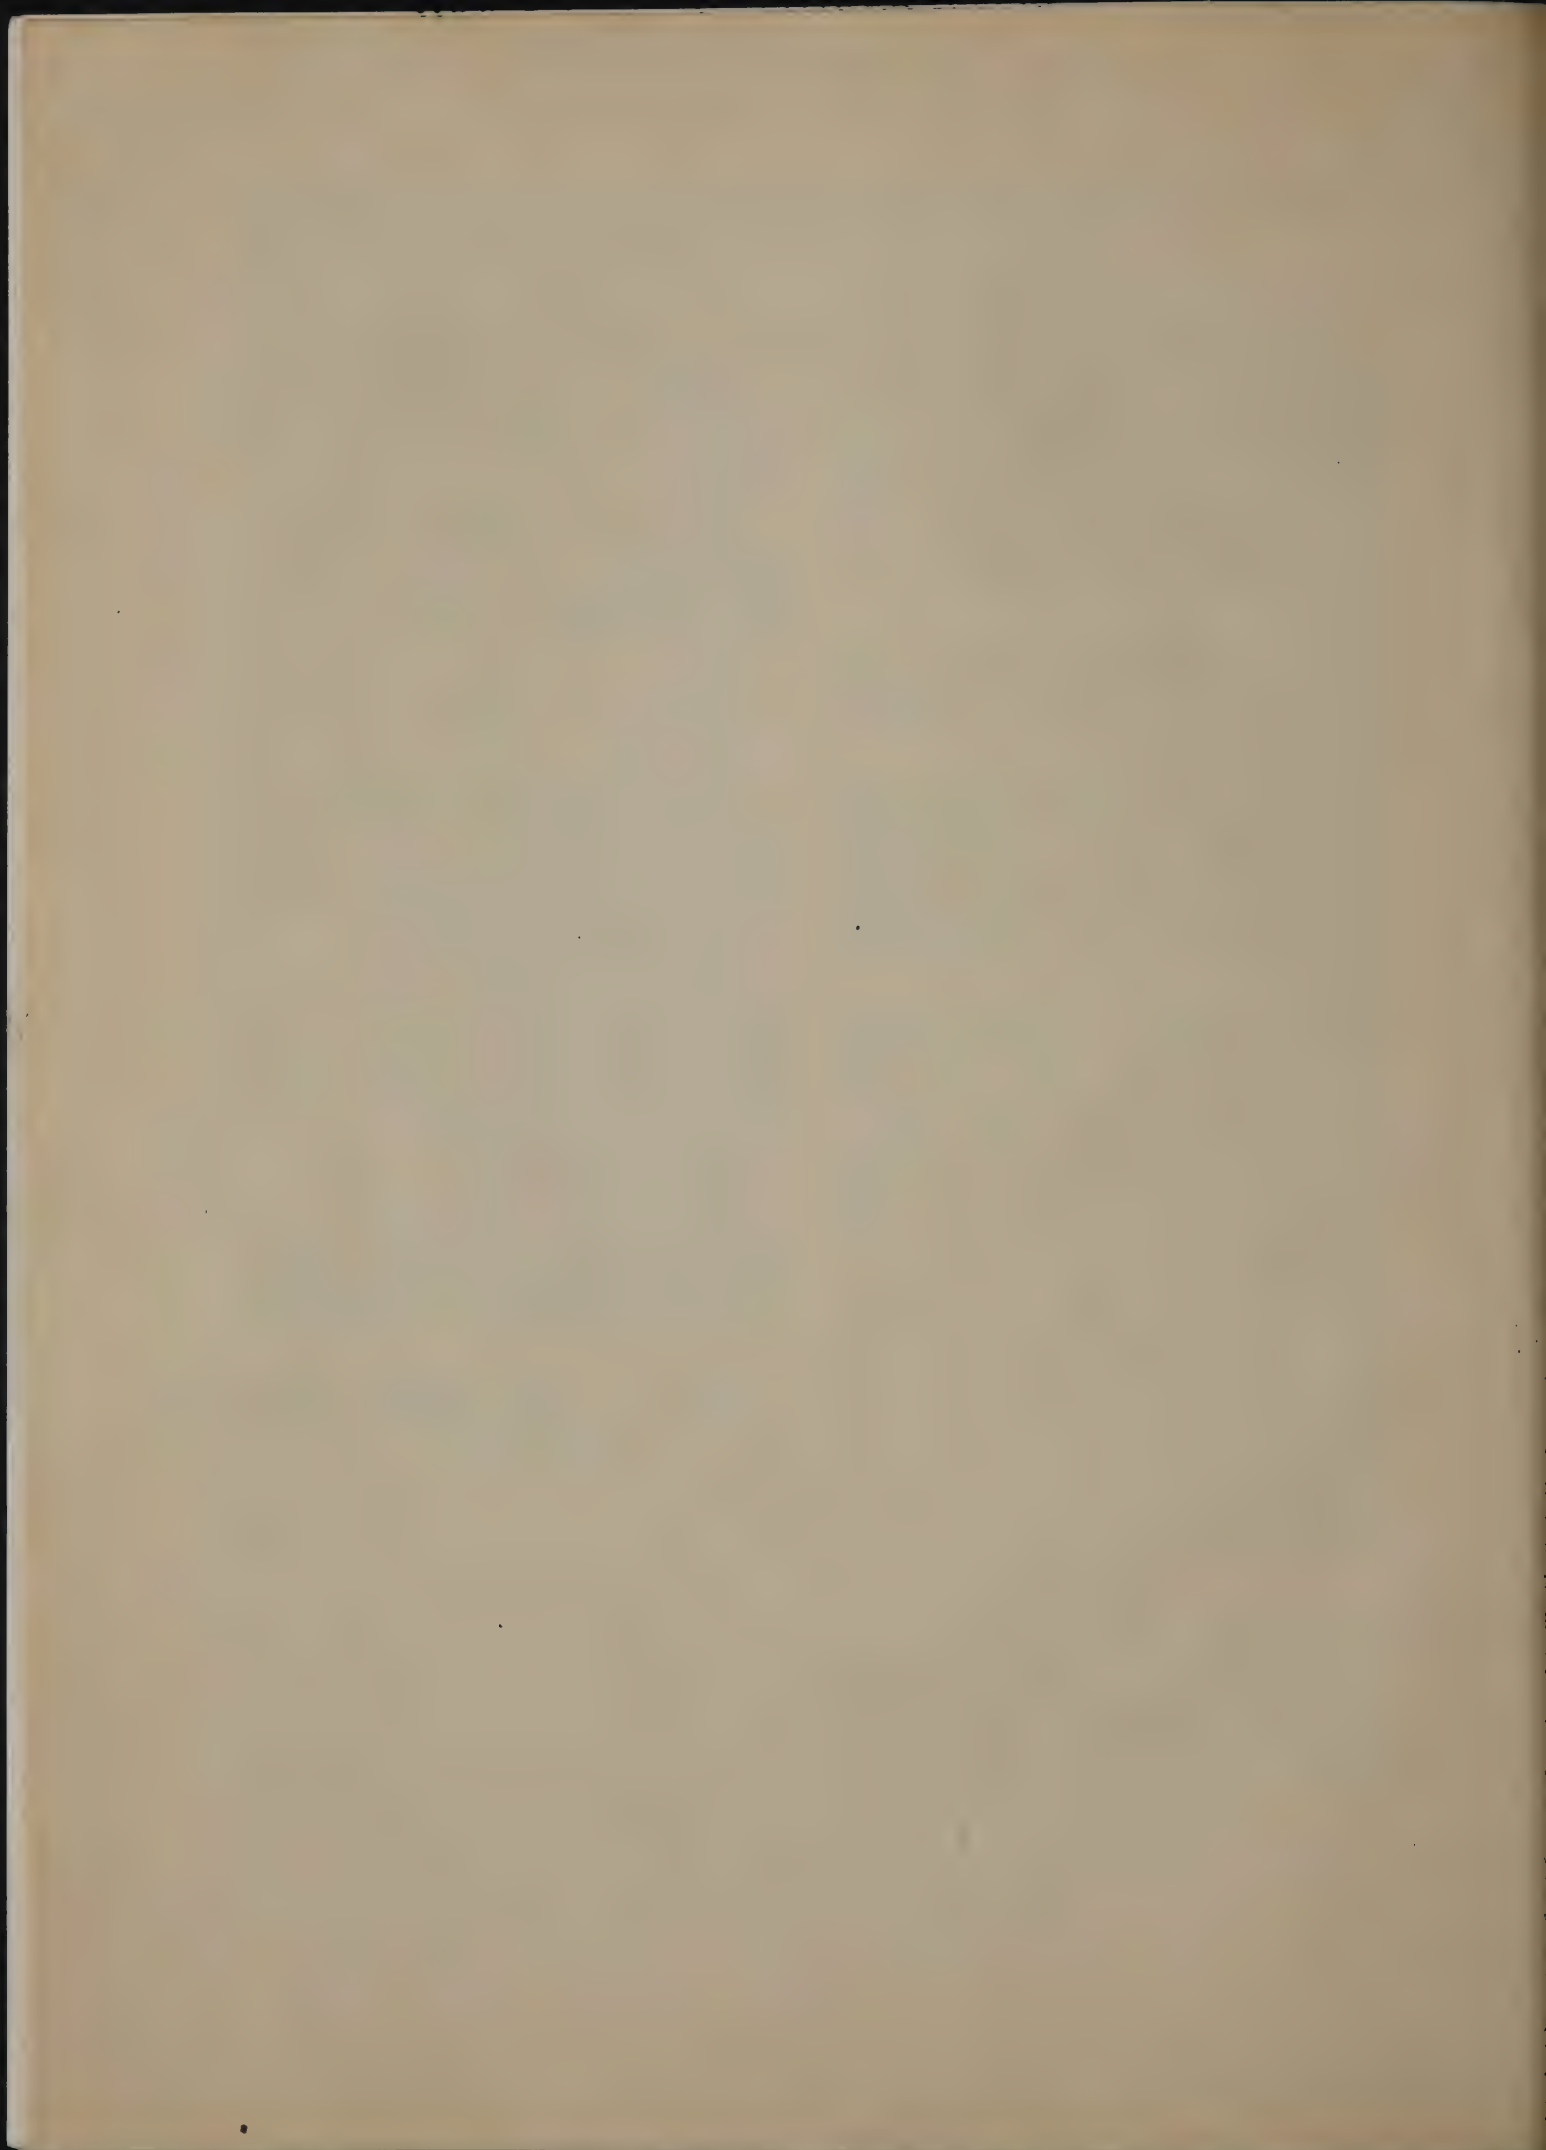

Qualifications for Associate Membership:

The husband or wife of any person entitled to Active membership may become an Associate Member by filling out and signing an application and paying dues of One Dollar for each calendar year. Associate members will receive the Bulletin and Supplements.

Qualifications for Honorary Membership:

Any person who is interested in Rochester, its history and traditions, may be elected to Honorary Membership by the Board of Directors. Honorary members shall pay dues of One Dollar per year and shall receive the Bulletin and Supplements.

The list which follows indicates in boldface italics those who joined the Association in response to the above invitation:

The List of Old School Boys and Girls

To make a correct list is impossible. If you discover any error, please send corrections to Ed. F. Cook, Secretary Old School Boys and Girls Association, Rochester, Minnesota, for insertion in future supplements.

Residents of Rochester are listed in boldface. Members living away from Rochester are listed in boldface italics.

To become a member, send $1.00 for a year's dues to the Association in Rochester. Members are entitled to a copy of this booklet.
